

THE GREATEST CONSPIRACY

According to many Christians, billions of people are going to a place called Hell to be tormented by God for all eternity. Please hear this very carefully. If Jesus loses just one soul, he will become the world's biggest sinner. How so you say? Because He will have missed His mark...that is, to reconcile all things back to His Father. "For by Him all things were created that are in heaven and that are on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or principalities or powers. All things were created through Him and for Him. And he is before all things and in Him all things consist. And He is the head of the body, the Church, who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead, that in all things He may have the preeminence. For it pleased the Father that in Him all the fullness should dwell, and by Him to reconcile all things to Himself, by Him whether things on earth or things in heaven, having made peace through the blood of His cross." (Colossians 1:16-20) Please understand that when the scriptures talk about "things" being reconciled back to God, He is not talking about rocks and trees. It was descendants of Adam who were cast out of the presence of God in the Garden of Eden, remember? We need to be restored, reconciled, redeemed and the Scriptures make it abundantly clear that His purpose, goal, will and work was to reconcile all.

These Scriptures make it abundantly clear what the goal, the mark, and the target which Jesus was aiming at when He went to the Cross of Crucifixion. The majority of the church says Jesus either will not (Calvinist) or cannot (Arminians) due to Satan and the power of "free-will," save all mankind. The majority of the church says He will sin, that is, miss the mark.

There has always been a minority in church history, (which used to be the majority before the dark ages) who believe the Scriptures that declare Jesus Christ the actual Savior of the whole world.

This article is much too short to get into the subject, but none of these Hell or "eternal punishment" type of phrases should ever have been brought into English translations. The Roman Catholic Church, with its "convert or die" policies, took almost all of the pagan and idolatrous practices of the countries it forced to convert and "christened" them, that is, incorporated them into the church. Thousands of pagan ideas and practices became Christian that way. When one seriously studies the Reformation, we realize that Protestants did not go all the way in clean up the "House of the Lord." They left many false doctrines intact. One of these false doctrines which came from pagan countries is the idea of a place of eternal punishment called "Hell." A quick look into an encyclopedia should tell a person this word in its religious form comes from Norse mythology, not from the Greek and Hebrew in the Bible. The whole concept of a place of eternal torment comes from a mistranslation of the Hebrew word Sheol and the Greek words Hades, Gehenna, and Tartarus all being translated into the Anglo-Saxon word "Hell." The Reformation translators translated from their traditions, not from knowledge of Hebrew and Greek.

As Bible translations get closer to the original languages, our pagan concept of Hell will fade away. Paul never preached a place of eternal torment to anyone! That is why he could say in 1 Timothy 4:9-11, "This is a faithful saying worthy of all acceptance. For to this end we both labor and suffer reproach, because we trust in the living God, who is the Savior of all men, especially those who believe." He could also say and mean, "Love never fails!" (1 Cor. 13:8) John tells us that "God is Love." (1 John 4:8) Therefore, God never fails! He never misses the mark! We, in our short-sightedness may have brought Him down to our image, that is, a sinner, but He will be vindicated. When He is, will you hang your head in shame? It is not too late to "study to show yourself approved" and see for yourself the glorious Truth that the salvation of the world does not depend upon a hypocritical, lazy, selfish church. No, the world, all of it, is in much better hands...Jesus Christ, the Savior of all mankind, Who gave Himself a ransom for all, including you, whether you presently are aware of it or not.

Salvation is for the here and now and constrained for the age of mankind. Scripture says even creation groans and travails in pain, yet we are told the creation itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God and this is why the earnest expectation of the creation waits for the manifestation of the sons of God. The problem of this present age is that most of Christendom preaches a false Gospel of eternal torment and damnation, the sons of God need to rise up in this present age to proclaim the All-inclusive Gospel, to help the Lord put all enemies under His feet, which would result in the Lords return to set up His millennium kingdom and ultimately manifest in the restoration of all mankind in the new heaven and earth.

The two main definitions that define a cult or cultist is 1. They deny the true deity of Christ and 2. They undermine the Lords completed work on the cross; so those who embrace the heretical and false teaching of eternal torment most definitely fall into the later group, basically they believe in limited atonement leading the way to a different Jesus and another Gospel, Paul said "But even if we or an angel from Heaven preach a gospel to you beside what we preached to you, let him be accused. As we said before, and now I say again, if anyone preaches a gospel to you beside what you have received, let him be accused” .The Lord said “many” will say to Me in that day, Lord! Lord! Did we not prophesy in your name, and through your name cast out demons, and through your name do many wonderful works? And then I will say to them I never knew you! Depart from Me, those working lawlessness. Those who ardently preach eternal torment are not only heretical and desecrate the Fathers forgiveness in Christ they also stand outside the unique Ministry of the New Testament, Paul in second Corinthians 5:18, 19 “And all things are of God, who has reconciled us to Himself through Jesus Christ, and has given to us the ministry of reconciliation; whereas God was in Christ reconciling the “world” to Himself, not imputing their trespasses to them, and putting the word of reconciliation in us”.

Paul said until this day, when Moses is read, the veil is on their heart, and their thoughts were blinded; for until the present the same veil remains on the reading of the old covenant, not taken away.) But this veil has been done away “IN CHRIST”; this is the same “in Christ” that Paul spoke of in 1st Corinthians 15 when he stated: For as in Adam “ALL” die, even so “IN CHRIST” all will be made alive.

The trouble with those who preach the false teaching of eternal torment is that the same veil remains when they read the New Testament today; because they’re not taking the heavenly position of all being “IN CHRIST”. They’re making a stand outside the unique ministry of the New Testament, and they’ve changed the truth of God into a lie and turned the glorious Grace of our Lord into a hideous, twisted joke. It’s ironic and lamentable that those who promote the heretical teaching of eternal torment dare to accuse those who declare the true Gospel of Jesus Christ as heretics; if being a heretic is believing that God expressed His unlimited and unfailing love at Calvary and His all-encompassing, all-embracing and all-conquering love is certain to save ALL of Gods children in the end, then sign me up!

Today, we have so-called ministers of the “good news” who are spreading false accusations about God and His ways. They are threatening the world with the fear of “eternal” punishment if they don’t accept Jesus. Some unbelievers I’ve talked to are thinkers and have thought through the message we’re presenting to them—and you know what—it’s not flying with them. I know people who have forsaken Christianity because of this false doctrine of never-ending punishments. I know dear saints who’ve had nervous breakdowns because they were honest enough to really think through what the Church teaches on this issue. The rest of us (myself included) have simply accepted this “tradition of men” as truth. A famous dictator once said “Tell a lie long enough, loud enough, and often enough and people will start to believe you.”

Is it any wonder that in the face of such sadistic humbug there has been a wholesale manufacture of infidels? All these statements (by eternal hell-fire preachers) may be a show of oratorical eloquence, but they are nothing more. They hold no part of truth. They deny every attribute of God. They make wisdom foolishness, turn eternal love into exasperated hate, make omnipotence helplessness, and make the justice of God the grossest injustice in the universe. To say that I believe in such repugnance would be a lie of the first order. I do not believe it because it is contrary to the nature of God. It is contrary to the love of God.

It is contrary to the justice of God. It is contrary to the power of God. It is contrary to the Word of God and it puts God in the ridiculous position of being the almighty King of kings and Lord of lords yet having dominion a vast pocket of hate and resistance that even He cannot overcome. Further than this it makes the mighty sacrifice of Christ that was made for the entire world to be almost impotent in its power and scope. Worst of all, it frustrates the purpose of God laid down in the beginning when He said, 'Let us make man in our image and after our likeness.' Some will immediately ask me whether I do not believe in hell. My answer is very definite on this point. I most certainly DO BELIEVE in hell, but the hell of the Bible and the hell of human tradition are not the same thing at all. The hell of mans tradition is hopeless and eternal; while the hell of the Scripture like every judgment of God is corrective, remedial, and restorative

To many of us over the years have sown into various churches, ministers and ministries, then to wake up one morning to find out the things we’ve held so close to our hearts for so long could possibly be wrong can be a frightening thing.

If you can’t see that Christ has obtained Salvation for everyone and He alone satisfied the Fathers righteousness and that his All-sufficient Grace results in the All-inclusive Gospel then I doubt very much you have a clear revelation of Gods plan for mankind

Please don’t limit yourself to such a small view, a small vision and most of all a small God!

Romans 11:32

For God has bound all men over to disobedience; so that he may have mercy on them all
